

“Real Love & True Utopia. 1968 reviseted” KA1

Love and sexuality during the so called 1968 movements were seen as paths to individual and collective emancipation or even revolution.

Since this time Europe and its different cultures has changed dramatically. Actual discourses about themes like “MeToo”, polyamory and pornography criticize social taboos and the limitation of norms.

Besides, they try to underline that neither romance nor intimacy are exclusively private but strongly linked to topics as gender, power relations, individualism and even neoliberal economy.

(Partners from France, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Romania, Germany, Slovenia, Spain and Portugal)